-- The MAILING DATE of this communication appears on the cover sheet with the correspondence address --

Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

- 1) ☒ Responsive to communication(s) filed on 06 March 2007.
- 2a) ☒ This action is FINAL. 2b) ☐ This action is non-final.
- 3) ☐ Since this application is in condition for allowance except for formal matters, prosecution as to the merits is closed in accordance with the practice under Ex parte Quayle, 1935 C.D. 11, 453 O.G. 213.

Disposition of Claims

- 4) ☒ Claim(s) 14-25 is/are pending in the application.
- 4a) Of the above claim(s) _____ is/are withdrawn from consideration.
- 5) ☐ Claim(s) _____ is/are allowed.

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

Claims 15 and 16 are objected to because of the following informalities:

Claim 15 recites the limitation "said plunger" in line 3. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim 16 depends from canceled claim 1.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections – 35 USC § 102/103

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. § 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. § 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. § 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. § 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. § 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. § 103(a).

Claims 14-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 102(b) as being anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. § 103(a) as obvious over Buck et al. (US 6,254, 566 B1)(Hereinafter "Buck").

Regarding claim 14, Buck teaches a tampon (40) and a tampon applicator (20) in combination for expulsion of said tampon (40) into a vaginal cavity of a female user, comprising:

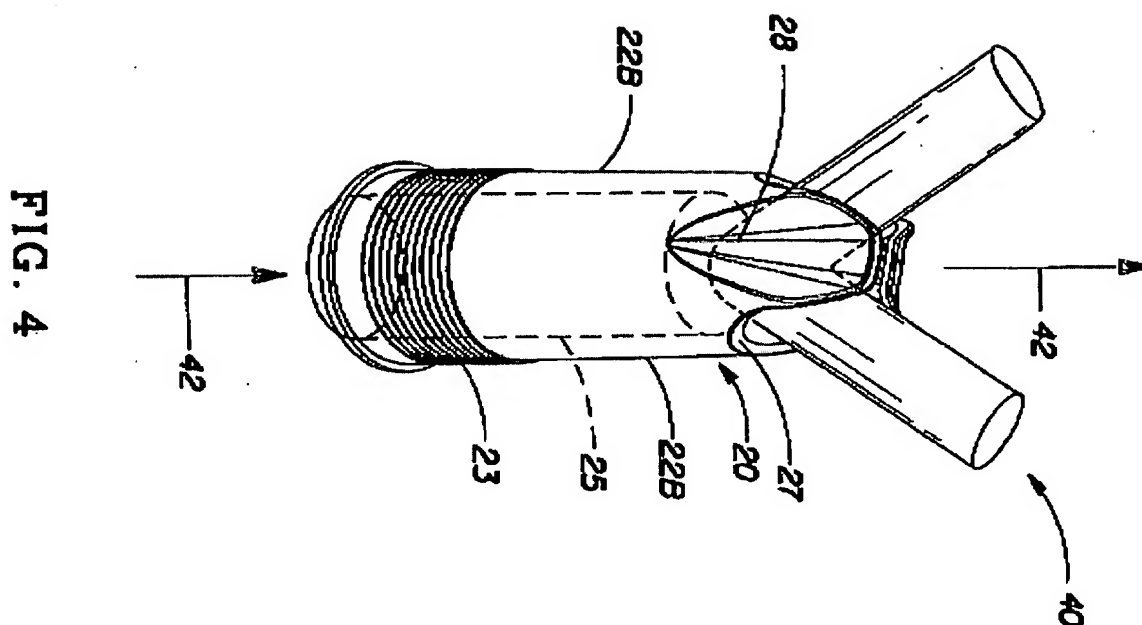

said tampon applicator (20) comprising a tampon holder tube (22);

said tampon holder tube (22) comprising a hollow interior portion, an interior surface (22A), an exterior surface (22B), a longitudinal axis (42), an outer perimeter, a first end (24) dimensioned for insertion into said vaginal cavity, a second end (21) positioned oppositely to said first end (24);

an end expulsion force increaser (28) and at least one side expulsion member (26, 27) positioned at said first end (24) of said tampon holder tube (22), said tampon (40) being housed within said hollow interior portion of said tampon holder tube (22) in a pre-expelled position;

said tampon (40) comprising a fluid permeable bag and absorbent material loosely dispersed within said permeable bag, said tampon (40) being housed within said hollow interior portion of said tampon holder tube (22) in a pre-expelled position; and wherein an axial force to expel said tampon (40) from said tampon holder tube (22) has a inherently greater axial force to expel said tampon (40) from said reinforced end expulsion force increaser (28, 30) than from said side expulsion member (26, 27)(see fig. 4, infra).

Regarding the functional limitations, apparatus claims must be structurally distinguishable over the prior art. MPEP § 2114.

Where applicant claims a composition in terms of a function, property or characteristic and the composition of the prior art is the same as that of the claim but the function is not explicitly disclosed by the reference, the examiner may make a rejection under both 35 U.S.C. § 102 and 103, expressed as a 102/103 rejection. “There is nothing inconsistent in concurrent rejections for obviousness under 35 U.S.C. § 103 and for anticipation under 35 U.S.C. § 102.” In re Best, 562 F.2d 1252, 1255 n.4, 195 USPQ 430, 433 n.4 (CCPA 1977). This same rationale should also apply to product, apparatus, and process claims claimed in terms of function, property or characteristic. Therefore, a 35 U.S.C. § 102/103 rejection is appropriate for these types of claims as well as for composition claims. MPEP § 2112.

Art Unit: 3761

Regarding claim 15, Buck teaches a side expulsion member (26, 27) that has an internal dimension that is capable of increasing to a deployed width as the plunger (25) expels the tampon (40) from the holder tube (22).

Claim 16 is interpreted herein as depending from claim 14. Further regarding claim 16, Buck teaches a plurality of side expulsion zones (26).

Regarding claims 17, 18 and 22, Buck teaches that the end expulsion force increaser causes the tampon (40) to simultaneously shorten and expand because it resists forward movement of the tampon (40) until it reaches a breaking point where tampon is forced forward by plunger (17).

Regarding claims 19-21, Buck teaches multiple slots, voids or weakened areas (26) at the first end of the tube (22).

Regarding claim 23, Buck teaches that the end expulsion force increaser (28) is a curved projection.

Regarding claims 24 and 25, Buck teaches that the axis of the tampon (40) reorients itself once it has been expelled.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 06 March 2007 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicants assert that Buck does not teach a tampon comprising a fluid permeable bag, and absorbent material loosely dispersed within the fluid permeable bag. This argument is not persuasive because Buck teaches that the tampon includes Tampax Regular absorbency core material and a polypropylene overwrap (col. 13, line 40-col. 15, line 57). Such overwraps are known in the art to be permeable so as to permit absorption by the tampon's core (see, e.g., Donohue, US 3,628,534, col. 3, lines 63-76; Etheredge et al. US 5,928,184 A, col. 5, lines 34-48). Tampax tampons include cores which consist of cellulosic and/or rayon fibers and absorbent additives dispersed in such overwraps (see, e.g., Donohue, col. 1, line 39-col. 2, line 28; Etheredge et al., col. 5, lines 16-33). The term "loosely" is relative and not specifically defined by the specification and thus does not distinguish the claimed invention over Buck.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
